Content Outline

Christine Lee 10/27/26

Kit Kats in Japan

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kit_Kats_in_Japan

This responsive micro-website will be organized like a chocolate box (with consistent "boxes" of information). It will consist of 4 pages (intro, history, marketing, varieties) with a consistent footer and homepage. Nav bar will be at the top, and there will be some dropdowns used to reveal information at the user's discretion (especially for the varieties page).

1. Intro:
   - Basic, general info on KitKat in Japan (400 varieties, etc.)
2. History:
   - Timeline of history (1973-2010) talking about business model as rationale for creating so many new flavors
3. Marketing:
   - Kitkat as a false cognate as "kitto katsu" or you will surely win in Japanese
   - Japan post and nestle marketing campaign in 2009
4. Varieties
   - Highlighting various notable varieties, while giving brief descriptions for others (want to select as many as possible, with dropdown info maybe due to the amount of flavors -> focus on regional flavors)
   - I want this to be the "fun" page.
5. See also/References (footer)
   - Linking other related articles